

In consecutive interpreting, the interpreter speaks after the source-language speaker has finished speaking. The speech is divided into segments, and the interpreter sits or stands beside the source-language speaker, listening and taking notes as the speaker progresses through the message. When the speaker pauses or finishes speaking, the interpreter then renders a portion of the message or the entire message in the target language. In whispered interpreting (chuchotage, in French), the interpreter sits or stands next to the small target-language audience whilst whispering a simultaneous interpretation of the matter to hand; this method requires no equipment, but may be done via a microphone and headphones if the participants prefer. Chuchotage is used in circumstances where the majority of a group speaks the source language, and a minority (ideally no more than three people) do not speak it.

IN & OUT's Team of Interpreters

- Seasoned and professionally trained interpreters ensure that you receive the most accurate interpretation services
 - Proficient with the linguistics of the languages they interpret
 - Extensive knowledge of the technical field in which they provide interpretation services
 - Fluent in the source language and the target language
 - Our interpreters follow high standards of professional ethics, confidentiality and professionalism. They sign a confidentiality agreement and are bound by a strict Code of Ethics, which means that all the information that you share with us, with regards to interpretation, remains secure and confidential
 - They leverage proven quality control methods to see to it that all the interpretation projects that we undertake are delivered to you within a quick turnaround time
 - Skilled analysts monitor the calls answered by our interpreters on a regular basis
-

Benefits of Using Our Language Interpretation Services

- Quality equipment: We make use of high-tech equipment for uninterrupted interpretations. Both, the listeners and the speakers will feel as if they're talking directly to one another
 - Time management: Our interpretation services help you save valuable time and efforts
 - Multi-language interpretation: We can provide interpretation services from one language to many target languages
 - Competitive prices
 - Accurate interpretation
 - Quick turnaround time
 - Skilled analysts monitor the calls answered by our interpreters on a regular basis
-

