

Simultaneous interpretation is a demanding, highly skilled craft which is used for communicating in multiple languages. This technique is used in sales meetings, industry conferences, training seminars, site-tours or government setting, always where the prime concern is "effective"communication.

Our interpreters, seated in sound reduction booths, listen to the presentation and simultaneously interpret into their target language.

At IN & OUT, we are committed to making every event a success. With over 10 years of experience, our knowledge and reputation is your guarantee we will provide you with a premium service.

Our simultaneous interpretation services allow you to have your message heard in conferences, meetings, international seminars and other venues. Our simultaneous interpreters are skilled and experienced in listening to a message delivered in one language and interpreting the message in real time, making international communication possible in any setting. Our conference interpreters work in pairs using state of the art simultaneous interpretation equipment to ensure the success of your event.